Schedule 1

Application for premises license review – Que Passa 64-65 High Street Banbury Oxon.

The Councils' Anti Social Behaviour Team first received complaints alleging excessive noise from the premises of Que Pasa 64-65 High Street Banbury Oxon on 14 January 2008. The complaint alleged that amplified music from the premises could be heard within the complainants dwelling and that in addition noise from customers using the rear garden of the premises was also audible within the dwelling at a level which was causing disturbance.

These allegations were investigated and officers from the Anti Social Behaviour Team formed the opinion that the noise constituted a statutory nuisance. Accordingly an abatement notice was served on the licensees of the premises Martsons Plc. The Abatement Notice was served on 18 March 2008. Notice of appeal was given on behalf of Marstons but following a period of negotiation the Council and Marstons agreed a form of words acceptable to both parties. A copy of the agreed abatement notice is produced as exhibit RL 1.

Whilst the legal discussion was taking place over the content and form of the abatement notice the Anti Social Behaviour Team were in discussions with the Marstons Area Manager for the Que Pasa brand. Through this channel a series of agreed measures were put in place which were designed to overcome the problems presented by noise within the premises and by noise escaping from the premises. These measures were as follows:

- Access to the rear garden area of the premises was restricted such that customers had to pass through a sound check lobby to reach the outside area.
- The two speakers located closest to the rear doors to the premises were turned off.
- The levels of sub bass and overall volume of the sound amplification system within the premises were to be reduced.
- All amplification equipment settings were to be set and maintained by the premises management .

During the course of further enquiries following the implementation of this agreement evidence was obtained which suggested that the set amplification levels were not being used by one of the premises resident DJs. This led to the likely offender being dismissed by the company and the following additional sound control measures being put in place:

- A copy of the agreed amplifier settings were to be displayed next to the DJs equipment and a copy provided to the Council. I produce a copy of this document as exhibit RL 2.
- The amplification equipment was locked away from unauthorised access.

At the time these discussions were taking place the feasibility of providing sound insulation to parts of the premises was also discussed but as of 16 May 2008 the original complainant indicated their satisfaction with the current sound levels from the premises this option was not pursued.

It must be stressed that these arrangements were made by informal agreement and were not subsequently put forward for inclusion in the operating schedule which formed part of the premises license.

On 24 September 2008 we again received information alleging that there was excessive noise coming from the Que Passa premises. The substance of the allegations were similar to those received early in the year in that bass noise from the premises was intruding into a nearby dwelling and noise from customers using the rear garden of the premises was also causing disturbance.

During the course of our investigations the agreed settings for the premises sound amplification were checked and at the time of our visit were found to be as per the schedule. During the course of this visit it was noted that customers were still gaining access to the rear garden area via the twin fire exit doors at the rear of the premises rather than via the door way fitted with the sound check lobby and one of the self closing devices to the sound check lobby was defective.

The allegations were investigated by installing calibrated sound recording equipment in the customers' premises between 17 October 2008 and 28 October 2008. These recording exercises produced evidence of noise disturbance within the customers' dwelling on both occasions and I produce copies of these recordings as exhibit RL3.

The licensees have been advised of our concerns at Area Manager Level and I am advised that they exploring ways of dealing with the issues arising from the use of the premises rear garden.

In the light of the information above the request for a review of the premises license may seem premature however I would argue that there are sound reasons for doing so.

Firstly there is evidence of ongoing disturbance due to noise from the premises. Secondly the control measures put in place in response to the first noise complaint investigation rely heavily on a human input in that in order to ensure that sound does not escape from doors being left open at the rear of the premises a human input by way of policing by door staff is required. Equally the use of agreed settings for sound equipment relies on a degree of control being exercised by the premises manager and there is an opportunity for these levels to be overridden even if the control regime is being vigilant. Unfortunately it is not possible to control the amount of noise made by customers by the use of a volume control and indeed the well meaning interventions of door staff in an attempt to ask noisy individuals to behave can be counter productive.

The purpose of this review application is to invite the licensing committee to consider varying the operating schedule of the premises in order to design out the 'human' elements of the current and proposed sound control programme such that the premises can continue to operate without causing disturbance to the occupants of nearby dwellings. With this in mind the committee may wish to consider a requirement to carry out sound insulation to the structure of the premises and the imposition of a curfew on the rear garden of the premises which would address the issues of sound break out through open doors and the disturbance caused by customers using this area of the premises in the late evening and early hours of the morning.
